

A row of four two-story townhouses under a clear blue sky. From left to right: the first unit is made of brown brick with white window frames and a dark brown door; the second unit has yellow horizontal siding with dark blue shutters and a dark blue door; the third unit is made of red brick with white window frames and a dark brown door; the fourth unit is made of grey brick with white window frames and a dark brown door. Each unit features a gabled roof with white trim and a small dormer window. The townhouses are set back from a paved sidewalk by a green lawn with small trees and shrubs.
